What's the job?

We are looking for a talented individual that loves the digital space to join our team as a Digital Project Manager.

Reporting directly to our Technical Director, you'll be heading up the project management function within our company. You will be responsible for managing projects from conception through to final delivery. As the crucial link between our production teams and our clients, you'll ensure projects are delivered on time, to budget and to brief.

We're looking for someone who cares about delivering great interactive projects and who fully understands how to manage creative and technical processes to achieve brilliant results.

You will have a minimum of 2 years experience managing digital projects.

The ideal candidate will:

- Have a good track record in managing the production of both advertising/marketing led projects and medium/large scale site builds
- Have excellent attention to detail, communication and organisational skills
- Be at ease dealing directly with clients
- Have an excellent and detailed understanding of digital technologies
- Have a willingness to learn

If you're excited by the opportunities offered at a growing, independent company, and the increased responsibility that comes with it, then you'll fit right in.
